1. Start with a Diagnostic Review

Skim through the questions to get a sense of what you know and what you need to focus on. Your goal is to identify knowledge gaps early.

2. Study in Short, Focused Sessions

Break your study time into manageable blocks (e.g. 30 – 45 minutes). Review a handful of questions, reflect on the explanations.

3. Learn from the Explanations

After answering a question, always read the explanation, even if you got it right. It reinforces key points, corrects misunderstandings, and teaches subtle distinctions between similar answers.

4. Track Your Progress

Use bookmarks or notes (if reading digitally) to mark difficult questions. Revisit these regularly and track improvements over time.

5. Simulate the Real Exam

Once you're comfortable, try taking a full set of questions without pausing. Set a timer and simulate test-day conditions to build confidence and time management skills.

6. Repeat and Review

Don't just study once, repetition builds retention. Re-attempt questions after a few days and revisit explanations to reinforce learning. Pair this guide with other Examzify tools like flashcards, and digital practice tests to strengthen your preparation across formats.

There's no single right way to study, but consistent, thoughtful effort always wins. Use this guide flexibly, adapt the tips above to fit your pace and learning style. You've got this!

Explanations

SAMPLE

1. What is the term for 'care taken beforehand; a step or action taken to prevent something from happening'?

A. Mandatory

B. Precaution

C. Opponents

D. Law-abiding

Think about actions you take ahead of time to stop problems before they start. The word that fits this idea is precaution. A precaution is a preventive measure—something you do in advance to avoid harm or trouble. For example, wearing a helmet while biking or checking the weather before a trip are precautions. The other options describe different things: mandatory refers to something required by rules, opponents are people who disagree or resist, and law-abiding describes someone who follows laws. None of these capture the preventative, ahead-of-time care that a precaution conveys.

2. What is the best way to handle unknown vocabulary in a Reading passage?

A. Immediately look up every new word in a dictionary.

B. Skip the word without noting it.

C. Use context clues in surrounding sentences to deduce meaning, and skip if necessary.

D. Replace unknown words with synonyms you know.

Using context clues to deduce meaning keeps your reading flow intact while still grasping the main ideas of the passage. Often you can infer what an unknown word means from surrounding sentences, such as definitions given in appositives, examples, contrasts, or repeated roots and phrasing. If you can't pin down the meaning quickly, it's okay to skip the word and continue, then come back later if needed. This approach helps you understand the overall message without getting bogged down in every unfamiliar term. Jumping to the dictionary for every new word slows you down and breaks your focus on the text. Skipping a word without noting it can leave you missing important nuance or affect comprehension of the sentence. Replacing unknown words with synonyms you know might change the actual meaning or tone of the sentence, leading to misinterpretation.

3. How do 'Author's Tone' questions differ from 'Author's Purpose' questions?

A. Tone focuses on content accuracy; Purpose on word choice.

B. Tone is about structure; Purpose is about audience.

C. Tone is about evidence; Purpose is about timing.

D. Tone asks about attitude or mood; Purpose asks about reason or goal.

Tone is about the author's attitude toward the subject or toward the reader, which shows up through word choice, connotations, and the overall mood the writing creates. Purpose is the reason the author wrote the piece—the goal they want you to achieve or the outcome they want you to reach, such as to inform, persuade, entertain, or explain. So the best answer says tone asks about attitude or mood, while purpose asks about the reason or goal behind the writing. The other options mix in elements that aren't the defining features: tone isn't mainly about structure or evidence, and purpose isn't just about timing or audience.

4. Which term means the belief that one race is superior to another?

A. Racism

B. Unjust

C. Hazard

D. Cultural Awareness

Racism is the belief that one race is superior to another. That mindset often leads to treating people unfairly or discriminating against them because of their race. The other terms don't fit: unjust means not fair in general, hazard means danger, and cultural awareness is about recognizing and respecting different cultures. So the description matches racism.

5. Which word means to calculate an amount or number expected in the future from information already known?

A. Controversy

B. Project

C. Premises

D. Vacate

The idea here is forecasting or estimating future numbers using what you already know. To project something means to predict or estimate an amount in the future based on current data or trends. This fits exactly the sense of calculating an expected future figure from information at hand. The other terms don't match the meaning: controversy is a disagreement, premises are base statements or assumptions used to support an argument (or the base of a building), and vacate means to leave or quit a place. So the best fit is the word that denotes forecasting or estimating future values.

6. Which word corresponds to 'to attract; hire; pledge oneself; confront'?

A. Imply

B. Solicit

C. Engage

D. Occupancy

This item tests recognizing a verb with several related senses: to attract interest, to hire someone, to pledge oneself to do something, and to confront. Engaging fulfills all four. To engage someone's attention is to attract them. To engage a contractor or staff means to hire them. To engage to do something can mean to pledge oneself to accomplish it. And to engage in a fight or to engage the enemy is to confront them. The other words don't cover these combined meanings: imply means to hint at something; solicit means to request or seek something, not necessarily hire or pledge oneself; occupancy is a noun referring to the act of occupying space.

SAMPLE

7. Which verb means to encourage into action?

A. Submerge

B. Exposure

C. Prompt

D. Resurface

Prompt is the verb that means to encourage someone to take action or to stimulate a response. You can use it in phrases like "prompt a discussion" or "prompt someone to act," which shows the idea of urging someone to move forward with action. The other options don't carry that sense: submerge means to put something under water, resurface means to come back to the surface, and exposure is a noun referring to being exposed or the act of exposing, not urging action. So, prompt best fits the meaning of encouraging into action.

8. Which term refers to information provided to employees regarding work policies?

A. Tuition

B. Cultural Awareness

C. Diabetes

D. Employee Handbook

An employee handbook is the document that provides information to employees about work policies. It lays out the rules, procedures, benefits, attendance expectations, safety guidelines, and codes of conduct that govern the workplace. This makes it the primary reference for what is allowed, required, and how issues are handled. The other terms don't relate to policy updates or workplace rules: tuition is about paying for education, cultural awareness is about understanding differences in cultures, and diabetes is a medical condition.

9. Choose the term for the money an employee receives for labor.

A. Reimbursement

B. Compensation

C. Obtain

D. Solvent

The main idea is naming the money an employee receives for labor. The best term is compensation, because it broadly covers pay for work—wages or salary—along with any bonuses or benefits that come with the job. Reimbursement isn't pay for labor; it's money paid back to the employee for expenses they incurred while doing their job. Obtain is a verb and not a noun describing money. Solvent describes financial health, not payment for work. So compensation accurately names the money received for labor.

10. What does a Vocabulary in Context question require?

A. Memorize the dictionary definition.

B. Identify the word's spelling.

C. Guess randomly.

D. Determine meaning using surrounding sentences.

In vocabulary in context questions, you determine a word's meaning by using how the word is placed in the surrounding sentences. The nearby text provides clues—such as synonyms or restatements, contrasts, or examples—that show the exact sense the author intends. This approach works best because the writer often uses a specific sense that fits the passage, which may differ from a dictionary's general definition. Focusing on context clues rather than memorizing definitions or worrying about spelling helps you infer the precise meaning intended in that moment, and guessing randomly isn't reliable.
